Last year the total extension for the county's share of taxes was $327,874, of which, $3712 was for railroads and $346,500 for Schools.

The 1962 tax bill extension a year ago was $3,505,829 in local taxes and $40,151 in railroad taxes, or a total of $41,660.

The only taxing district to record an increase in its tax bill this year is Granite City township, for which the new extension is $1,000 more in local taxes and $14,621 in railroad taxes.

For the city corporation, the tax bill dropped from last year's total of $129,281 to $116,300 which includes $1,108,000 in local taxes and $14,621 in railroad taxes.

The county clerk's office is presently working on the 1963 tax books for Venice, Nameoki and Chouteau townships. The work was delayed by failure of St. Clair county assessing officials to complete the extension of the 1962 tax rate for the levee district could be sent to the Madison county clerk's office. Levee district property extended the base by the bulk of the levee district property is in St. Clair county, the rate is fully determined by St. Clair.

With further delay threatened, Mrs. Holtz sought a legal opinion from the office of St. Clair's Attorney Dick H. Mudge who ruled that a local clerk official could complete the books by the 1962 tax rate for the levee district and then make an adjustment in next year's extension if there were changes in the law for 1963. The books are being completed on this basis.

SOLID COMFORT for watching Saturday night's Fourth of July fireworks display at Wilson Park, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Ross and son, Leon Jr., 2631 Madison avenue, are silhouetted in the flashing groundwork pieces.

BRILLIANT DISPLAY at the Madison Lions Club Fourth of July festival at the junior high school grounds. The fireworks display was shot off last night, attracting thousands of spectators to see the overhead and ground pieces. The skyrockets went off amid a colorful, whirling "Merry Mixer" and the spinning ferris wheel.

QUIET FOURTH is celebrated by two young Granite Cityans who fished at Long Lake during the day. In the foreground is nine-year-old Victor Reznack Jr., while Charles Barth, eight, sits on the bank to watch his pole. They were accompanied by Victor's father.

SPORTS ACTIVITIES were abundant in the Quad-Cities area over the weekend, attracting a large number of spectators. Above is a portion of the crowd watching Saturday's Mercer-Sacred Heart Intercity League game at Wilson Park Diamond 1.

Cool Weather Brings Out Crowds

Delightful and cool temperatures that didn't go over 85 degrees attracted thousands of Quad-Cityans to the July 4th festivities at Grand Caves, Wilson Park and the Madison junior high grounds on the holiday.

The picnic areas, including Lee Park in Vicksburg and the nearby state parks, were jammed to capacity and the weather wasn't too hot for swimming in the park's pools and lakes.

The pleasant weather also afforded many homeowners an opportunity to work on their houses, replacing hard-damaged roofs and repairing broken windows and doors.

And it also was a time for boating, fishing and just plain relaxing.

Sports activities abounded with ballgames throughout the area. And in the parks there also was an overabundance of tennis players and others armed with badminton nets, croquet mallets and horseshoes.

Golfers packed the links in the area.

The holiday, however, was not without its wave of traffic and other mishaps, and the emergency room staff at St. Elizabeth Hospital was busy Friday through last night.

The Quad-Cities added to the nation's highway death toll about 100,000, with 100 accidents could be head-on, killing two persons and injuring two others on Route 3 (old 67A) north of Pontoon road.

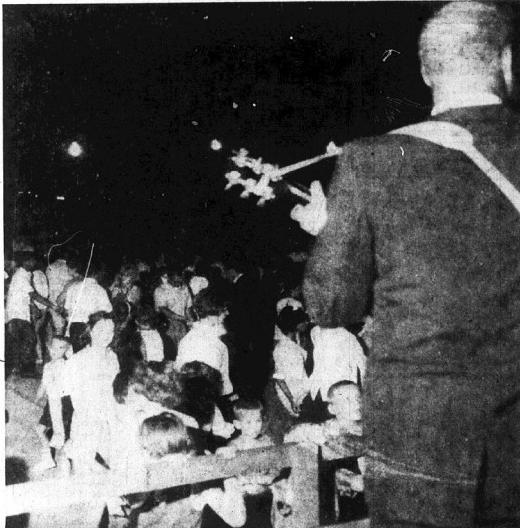

HOLIDAY MORNING show flag-decked 19th street, looking west from State street, with a lone parked auto and little traffic. Normally a mid-morning on Saturday shows considerably more hustle and bustle, but most Quad-Cityans were headed for outings or just staying at home.

WHO CARES? Six-month-old Thomas McCosky sleeps away a safe and sane Fourth of July while his family picnics at Venice Lee Park. His stroller was carefully parked in the peaceful breeze under a shade tree—all the requirements for a holiday snooze.

HUNDREDS OF TEENAGERS from throughout the Quad-Cities—along with adults and small fry—took advantage of the cool Friday night for the street dance at Wilson Park's deadend 29th street. A dart-throwing incident marred the event momentarily.

Driver Ignores Damage To Car, Leaves Scene

The driver of a race car truck left Venice police Friday night after hitting a station wagon during a Thursday evening traffic race on Market and Market streets, but that the woman driver sped away.

The trucker, Albert H. Galloway, 39, St. Louis, said he stopped at Market street at 6 p.m. Thursday when two cars pulled up on his right side when passing traffic. He said one of the cars pulled away, but as he made a right turn into Market street he saw a car which had caught the rear of the station wagon. The woman driver did not stop and drove rapidly away.

Whitehead posted bond for hearing, also on July 18.

According to police reports, Whitehead and a group of several younger boys, one of them only 15, went to the tavern about 1:30 a.m. Saturday and had a number of bottles of beer. One of the boys said in a statement to police that they were not asked for identification or questioned about their age.

Police said they learned that after the boys left the tavern, the 16-year-old boy became seriously ill and was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital. He later was admitted to the Madison-Peoria Hospital in St. Louis where his condition was reported good early this afternoon. Madison police

GRANITE CITY

JULY 7, 1914

But the quick action of neighbors and timely assistance from the fire department, a disastrous fire might have resulted from a fire cracker that lit in the basement of a residence on the south side of Granite City Saturday evening. Bells lighting fire crackers about the house, which was vacant due to the owners being away, and the Fourth of July weekend, allowed one to drop into a pile of shingles in the basement.

The fire gained considerable headway before it was discovered and communicated to the clothes chute which made a draught for the flames. A bucket brigade succeeded in saving the flames but with much damage, a few moments more and a disastrous fire could have resulted.

The Granite City Commercial Club at a regular meeting Wednesday evening, appointed a committee composed of Prof. J. P. Farnsworth, President, and J. R. Royle, to investigate the harbor line along the river front in Granite City, and to make whatever steps are necessary to have the line dredged. Mr. C. L. Ross, field agent for the Upper Mississippi River Improvement Association told the group of the potential damage that could be caused through a break of the river making it navigable at all seasons of the year. He pointed out that a great amount of commerce has been introduced by various "river cities" if the advantage is taken. The work of the local band in progress on July Fourth was spoken of and commented, and the club gave $20 additional to pay off the expenses of the event.

Fleishman & McNary have installed an electric fire in their lodge hall on the corner of Nineteenth and D street, making it one of the coolest and best lodges in Granite City.

SWIU Key To Encouraging More Area

Youths To Continue Their Schooling

(A master plan for Illinois higher education, affecting the future of the University, is to be considered in July by the new state board.) This is the last of four editorials.)

It has been established that commuter institutions of higher learning, such as Southwestern Illinois University, are less costly to the state and also to these students. In other words, families pay fewer taxes and also lower tuition.

Of equally lowering importance is the well-documented fact that conveniently located commuter schools attract college students quite effectively. Since the Illinois Metropolitan Areas has lagged so far behind in this respect, the most rapid possible development of SWIU rates top priority.

The proportion of Illinois 18-year-olds continuing their education has been on the upswing, reaching 37.7%, but compare poorly with such states as Michigan with 63%, Utah 59%, Massachusetts 52%, Kansas 50%, Oregon 49%, Washington 47%, Colorado 46% and Nebraska 43%.

It is true that our statewide figure of 37% is close to the national average but, despite the gain, it is falling behind; the Illinois rate has dropped 2.8 percentage points in relation to its national position a decade ago. And, as mentioned, this particular area is the reason.

It is high time that the social and economic well-being of both an individual and society itself depend more and more heavily upon the level of education achieved. Illinois youth obviously are in a disadvantageous position, compared with other states, and will continue to be unless their college-going rate is increased substantially.

It might be possible for the state to help if all those with higher-than-average ability were enrolled in college, but this is not the case in Illinois. Based on the scholastic ranking of high school graduates, a fourth of the students in the upper quarter of their class do not go on to college; 44% in the second quarter fail to continue their education.

Since the Quad-Cities-Eduardsville campus ranks among the top three centers in the state with 35% of its students coming from the upper half and 15% from the lower half of their high school graduating classes, it would seem that SWIU is providing badly-needed services but could do a much more thorough job with expanded facilities.

The tentative plan, which soon may become the permanent student plan, calls for a tuition-free education for all students and its companion features the development of colleges and universities to serve commuter students; this will be less costly to the state and to the student and will, in addition, stimulate the college attendance of qualified students."

From evidence assembled by the state higher education board during three years of study, the best interests of the entire state—its taxpayers and its youth—will be served by placing major emphasis on development of SWIU, eliminating educational inequity in Illinois' second most populous region.

Quad-Cities Gradually Taking On Lustre Of A Convention Community

With upwards of 500 motel rooms available now or in the near future, the Quad-Cities area is gradually becoming an ideal location for conventions. This fact is being recognized, which is even more important.

Huge conventions, of course, must still go elsewhere, but few places can offer the hospitality and friendly people that are emblem of smaller communities such as ours, and at the same time the tourist attractions and all the advantages of a metropolitan city just minutes away.

Several conventions already have enjoyed the facilities of the Quad-Cities, and we believe this is only a beginning. As this increases, so will the economic benefits.

Why not bring your organization's convention here next time?

Selection of Jury Commissioner

Should Not Be Purely Political

One of the lesser known—and low paid—jobs in Madison county is that of jury commissioner. There are three at $1200 each per year, appointed to staggered three-year terms. The term of one, Harold Hillmer of Granite City, has just expired.

It has been established that commuter institutions of higher learning, such as Southwestern Illinois University, are less costly to the state and also to these students. In other words, families pay fewer taxes and also lower tuition.

It is true that our statewide figure of 37% is close to the national average but, despite the gain, it is falling behind; the Illinois rate has dropped 2.8 percentage points in relation to its national position a decade ago. And, as mentioned, this particular area is the reason.

The lawyers should either endorse the nominees of the Madison County Democratic chairman or submit one of their own to the seven circuit judges who are to make the appointment. In this way, the selection will end up out of the purely political category.

The lawyers should either endorse the nominees of the Madison County Democratic chairman or submit one of their own to the seven circuit judges who are to make the appointment. In this way, the selection will end up out of the purely political category.

Now, the salary and the duties of jury commissioners are full time, and the appointment might well go to someone able to perform the work properly who is presently retired or semi-retired. There must be a lot of talent available among our "senior citizens."

It is an idea of the circuit judges and the bar association might find worth considering—unless they would want to run an advertisement of their own in search of applicants. The Press-Record would be glad to run such an advertisement without charge.

Price Reduction Today On Par

With "Man Bites Dog"

While just about everything else is going up in price—and has been going up for some years—it is noteworthy when the price of a commodity is reduced. And that will occur Aug. 1 for all customers of Illinois Power Co.

It's time that the savings to individual residential users will not be large but, taken as a whole, all of Illinois Power's customers will pocket a total of $1,500,000 annually. This is a substantial sum.

These new rates filed by Illinois Power Company with the Illinois Commerce Commission are further evidence of the excellent business management reputation enjoyed nationally by this privately-owned utility company.

It is also worth noting that service interruptions to Illinois Power customers in this area are less frequent and lengthy in comparison to other electric utility companies. We have observed this for some time and it occurs to us now that this too, is consistent with good property management, maintenance and development.

The man who knows it all and the man who knows nothing are equally dangerous.

SUGGESTS MORE POLICE TO ENFORCE TRAFFIC LAWS

To the Editor:

In the past few days a lot of people have been upset due to our Police Dept. passing out tickets to people parking or stopping along 20th street at the Granite City Hotel. See the photo.

The man who suggests that the public is becoming more and more considerate of the fact that the planning and traffic laws preference over the public's needs shows that the public is becoming more and more considerate in policy making.

True, due to variety of reasons, the public majority has become apathetic to many of our actions; however, we should have public officeholders who are also with the power to change the laws.

Our public officeholders should correct these things but when they don't the police should.

Maybe the rest of the police force should set a pattern after this young officer on all violations.

What to do until an emergency happens

Emergencies have practically no sense of fair play. And almost always pick the worst possible time to happen.

People seem to prefer the day your insurance lapses to trip you on your sidewalk, for example.

And the car usually waits until your bank account registers empty before getting expensive.

There is nothing to do but be ready. By taking away some reserve funds in U.S. Savings Bonds.

Bonds, themselves, are emergency proof. You can't lose the money you invest in them, even if fire, flood, robbers or plain carelessness causes you to lose the bonds.

And when something expensive happens, you can just take them in to any bank and get yourself solvent again.

In the meantime, Uncle Sam uses your bond dollars to handle other urgent matters, like taking care of your freedom.

Take a look at Uncle Sam's bonds where you bank or on the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. Get yourself really prepared and you might even discourage a few emergencies from ever happening.

Keep freedom in your future with
